JOIS AND DISCOMFORTS ON BOARD THE

A Chance for Any Boy to Get a Start in the Sailorlike for Many of the Lads-Most of Them Get Enough of Senfaring Life.

Funchal in the Madeiras and Teneriffe win a competitive examination. The St. Mary's is intended for fitting boys for the merchant service, and any youngster who is merchant service, and any youngster who is over fifteen and not yet twenty, and is morally and physically sound, who can obtain the consent of his parents or guardian and bring on board two pairs of boots, three towels, three pairs of heavy socks, three suits of heavy underclothing and three handkerchiefs, may, by depositing $35 with Capt. Crowninshield, the commander of the ship, join the school and in two years be graduated a full-fledged sailor before the mast. If he is narticularly bright the graduate may then s particularly bright the graduate may then be able to ship as third mate on a merchant be able to sinp as third mate on a merchant ship.

On fulfilling all the preliminary requirements the youngster will be given a natty dress suit of blue, consisting of the open, loose-throated shirt, wide-bottomed trousers and flat, visorless cap so much coveted by the would-be sea-farin' man. This he may wear on Saturdays and Sundays, if he is not "quarantined" for "skylarking," failure in his lessons, insubordination, disrespect to his superiors or other error. Thus attired he may, if in port, bowl about the streets, parade himself before admiring young friends and family, and stand with feet wide apart at his mother's hearth. His liberty in spart at his mother's hearth. His liberty in spart at his mother's hearth. His liberty in port may extend from Saturday morning at 9 o'clock till Monday at the same hour.

Besides this dress suit, he will get two suits of white canvas, blankets for his hammock and other necessaries of a sailor.

The $35 deposit pays for his keep and for tuition for two years in reading, writing, arithmetic, grammar, geography, history and navigation, practical and theoretical.

The lads are spared no detail of the life which they propose to fit for. There are seven sailors on the schoolship, cooks, an engineer and other men to the number of twenty, besides the tutors and officers, but the boys themselves perform much of the work twenty besides the tutors and officers, but the boys themselves perform much of the work of handling the ship, and at noon of each day they "go over the masthead," which means that they go through the work of furling and reefing and staying the sails and performing unheard-of other things with the "starboard foretopgallant studding sailboom-tricing-line-block-strap-thimble-seizing," and other parts of the ship gear unexplainable to a landsman. Each lad has his watch, his mess and his class in the school. The lads go up 110 feet from the deck each day.

The lads go up 110 feet from the deck each day.

An "ordinary seaman," graduated last month, said he had learned all about what was "for'a'd on the sta'b'd side, aft on the port side" and what was "inside on the outside." He knew how to pass a nipper, or clap on a jigger; how to choke a luff, or smake the backstays; fleet a purchase, or crown a crotch rope; make a gourmet or an artificial eye; make a Spanish fox, or a 'Turk's head; what was meant by a withe, a gammoning, a cat's paw, a sheep's shank, an Irish splice, the whiskers, the jumpers and a ringtail; which were the moon sails, star gazers, heaven disturbers and other sails; how to hitch, bend, clinch and cackle.

In fact he knew every inch of his ship, and rattled off at a steam-engine pace about

In fact he knew every inch of his ship, and rattled off at a steam-engine pace about everything in the ship's economy. The boys peeled the "spuds" themselves and had "salt horse" and "duff" till they sighed, and some of them cried for the good old fare they had had at home. The big beams high up and crosswise of the masts were the "crojecks," cross-jacks wouldn't be nautical: studdingsail was altogether too dignified and "stuns'll" did instead.
"We had school in the little house on deck from 9 till 4 o'clock five days in the week, with two hours out at noon for mess, masthead and play," said the graduate. "We got up at 6 in the morning, washed, dressed

BOYS WHO SAIL THE SEAS. and stayed our hammonks in ten minutes: cook's below at 6.10, breakfast, 6.30; had an hour for work and then school. Dinner at 12.30, supper at SCHOOL-SHIP ST. MARY'S.

Chance for Any Boy to Get a Start in the Merchant Marine — Mysterious Nautical Accomplishments Acquired—The Food Too Sailorlike for Many of the Lads—Most

On Discompost 12.80, suppor at 6, and lights out and all al. .... $8.9."

The reporter asked about the fare, and the old sait replied: "If it wasn't for the grub, I'd like to go on another cruise. But we get sait-horse all the time, the rice is cooked as as hard as a brick, the bread is hard tack of the hardest kind; the plum duff is fit for pavements, and the butter is strong enough to walk off the table."

Many of the Lads—Mest
Enough of Seafaring Life.

YING at anchor in the East River off Thirtyfirst street is the good ship St. Mary's. There
she will remain till
May next, when she will weigh anchor and
sail away to Lisbon, Funchal in the Ma.

To walk off the table."

Fund duff, the reporter learned, is a paste made of flour, water and dried apples, and is boiled. On close questioning, the graduate said: "We kicked on the duff, and they gave us beans instead, and the beans were always good. Our duff bags were called in.
Some of the salt beef was very bad. It smelt bad, and we went to Lieut. Fields, who is in charge of us, and he examined it, and seven barrels of the stuff were heaved overboard. The butter was not very bad when we left New York, but the changes in climate spoil it, and we couldn't eat it toward the last."

Lieut. Wells Fields said, when this converdeiras and Tenerifie in the Canary Islands, with her lively embryo seamen in the full glory of realization of their boyish dreams. The St. Mary's is the New York Nautical School, which is maintained by an annual appropriation from the Board of Education. On board are now fifty-eight young tars, who have which is maintained by an annual appropriation from the Board of Education. On board are now fifty-eight young tars, who have made one trip across the "briny." When she casts off her moorings next spring there will be an addition of thirty or forty land-lubbers and dock sailors, who will lead a dreary life alongside the old salts who have sailed one cruise.

The St. Mary's is an old sloop of war provided by the Government, and has been in this service about fifteen vears. She is a nautical school wherein young America who has read the fascinating sea stories of Oliver Optic or Capt. Marryat may speedily get his thirst for salt water and desire for a sea life appeased, and more, with little cost and no worriment to parents.

The Government has provided a Naval Academy at Annapolis, at which youths are trained for the naval service, but here applicants for admission must have a "pull" with some Congressman or be bright enough to win a competitive examination. The St. Mary's is intended for fitting boys for the merchant service, and any youngster who is a competitive examination. The Mary's is intended for fitting boys for the merchant service, and any youngster who is a conference of the properties of the boys who quit after the first cruise of the boys who quit after the first cruise of the boys who quit after the first cruise of the boys who quit after the first cruise of the boys who quit after the first cruise of the boys who quit after the first cruise of the boys are cured of their hankering for the sea after a cruise or two. Out of twenty they would complain justly that we had cruelly misled them."

Fact is, "said the recent graduate, "most of the boys are cured of their hankering for the sea after a cruise or two. Out of twenty they would they fared better in other ways, afterwards, when they had shipped on a merchantman, they would complain justly that we had cruelly misled them."

Fact is, "said the recent graduate, "most of the boys who quit after the first cruise of the boys who quit after the first o have been silent and only useful for object teaching for fifteen years, and smoke cigarettes or pipes like veteran tars, spin yarns and "put up jobs" on the "new boy." The new boy is of course sent to the captain for permission to use the billiard table, to get a hammock lantern, to get his shoes cobbled, and on other "funny" errands.

The best good that the school does, however, is to disenchant New York youth of this idealized sea life and cure them of their impetuous and unreasoning desire to become sailors.

A DOLLAR DINNER FOR FOUR.

Contributed Daily to "The World" by One of the Best Known City Chefs. At to-day's market prices the material for this dinner can be purchased fot $1.

> Pickerel. Butter Sauce. Pork. Apple Sauce. Mashed Potato. Pumpkin Pis. Oranges, Coffee.

> > Daluties of the Market.

e rib roast, 18c. to 20c. Lobsters, 8c. to 10c. virbouse steak, 25c. in steak, 15c. to 20c. nutton, 14c. to 16c. robops, 26c. to 28c. Frounders, 10c. From the control of t Prime rib roast, 18c, to 20c, Porterhouse steak, 25c, Sirioin steak, 16c, to 20c, Eg minton, 14c, to 16c, Lamb hind ters, 12c, to 16c, Veal cutlets, 28c, Sweetbreads, 86 per dozen, Caives' heads, 50c, to 60c, Roasting pig. $3.50 each, Roast ohloken, 12c, to 20c, lb. Hashing turkery, 14c, to 15c, Squabs, $3.50 to $4 doz. Squabs, $3.50 to $4 doz. So, Canvassbacks, $3.50 pair. Gruss, $1.25 pair. Partridge, 75c, to $1.25 pair. Partridge, 75c, to $1.25 pair. Read birds, $1 dozen. Redbeads, $1.50 pair. Read birds, $1 dozen. Redbeads, $1.50 pair. Test, 75c, pair. Test, 75c, pair. Test, 75c, pair. Capoun, 25c, 1b.

Mallarda, 81 pair.
Teal, 75c, pair.
Capons, 25c. 1b.
Quail, 83.50 dos.
English snipe, 82.50 dos.
Rail, $1.60 dos.
Venison, 20c. to 25c.
Venison, 10c. to 15c.
Cauliflowers, 10c. to 15

Naturally.

(From Judge.)
"Come, now, Master Tommy! when mamma gives you a real nice piece of cake, what do you say?"
"Please, mamma, give me some more."

A Perfect Cure.

Messrs. W. B. RIEER & SON. OCTOBER 28, 1886.

GENTLEMEN: For the last five or six months I have been suffering from a severe affection of the cheet, accompanied by a most DISTRESSING OCUGE. I could find NO RELIEF. Nothing seemed to help me until I tried one bottle of your "RIEERS EXPECTORANT," and that has effected a FERFECT CURE and I feel like a new person. I most highly commend your EXPECTORANT to all affected with pulmonary trouble and trust this may induce other sufferers to try and ne CURED.

I remain, very truly yours,

MARGARET F. KELLT.

187 Ross street, Brocklyn, N. Y. OCTOBER 28, 1886.

THREE HOURS TOO LATE.

How a Fair Young Florida Maiden Punished Her Laggard Lever.

THE QUESTION BROUGHT UP WHETHER HE

CAN BE ALLOWED TO LAND.

f the Law Shuts Out Clergymen and Farm

~

ers May He Not be Sent Back !- Possible

Difficulties in the Way of a Craze for Bagpipes-Opinions on the Subject From

Officials and Experts-What the Law Says.

tion. In view of the peculiar position of the Rev. Mr. Warren, the return of the Scotch farmer to England last spring by order of

Collector Magone because he came to America by contract, and the other enforcements of the Contract Emigration law, it is a nice question whether Mr. Vanderbilt's bagpiper may not be refused landing here.

Mr. Vanderbilt is not expected to return before the robins nest again, however, and meantime the people of America who read the fashion papers are kept in anxious suspense. Chapter 163 of the United States Statutes of 1885 provides that it shall be unlawful for any person, company, partnership, or corpo-ration, in any manner whatsoever, to prepay the transportation, or assist, or encourage the importation or immigration of an alien or foreigner to perform labor of any kind in the United States.

United States.

That all contracts or agreements, express or implied, parole or special, between any person, &c., and any foreigner to perform labor or service of any kind made previous to immigration shall be utterly void and of no effect.

effect.
Violation of this statute is subject to punishment of $1,000 fine for each offense and six months' imprisonment, and the foreigner with whom the contract is made may bring suit and recover damages on such

This act, however, excepts personal servants, professional actors, artists, lecturers, or singers and any member of the family of the American party to the contract. Skilled or singers and any member of the family of the American party to the contract. Skilled labor may be contracted for in a foreign country, the laborer to migrate to America, provided only that such skilled labor cannot be obtained here; and foreigners may be con-tracted for on this side to introduce or establish new kinds of industry not known here.

The Caledonian Club, which numbers

Commissioners.

Mr. Groth is of opinion that the piper is Talk Heard At a Church Wedding.

worth a million, dead broke.

Everybody.— some relation of the They say he's been engaged nine tour wives living.

[From Daughtere of America.]

got an awful temper.
almost constantly intoxicated.
lost all his money.
.— some relation to Lady Simmery Axe.

DMUND YATES is responsible for the announcement that Mr. William K. Vanderbilt has been charmed by a Scottish bagpiper in America as a popular musical instrument.

And this gives rise to much curious specula-

(From the Enterprise (Fla.) Seraid.) Enterprise and vicinity was set all agog on Thursday morning by the announcement that long expected wedding, which was to have occurred at Saulaville, a few miles east of this place, at & SO A. M., had been declared off by the betrothed lady. Mr. Harry Rhoades, formerly of this place, late of Titusville, and Miss Charlotte Sauls, of Saulsville, were the parties who intended that their lives should be a "link of sweetness sails, of Sainsville, were the parties was intended that their lives should be a "link of sweetness long drawn out," but the fates decreed otherwise. All nature smilled on this auspicious morning, and that any man, when his life was to be glaidened, should fall to appear on time and claim the lady whom he had wooed and won with the ardor that belongs to youth, is beyond the comprehension of all except probably himself.

At 6.30 A. M. the bright sun'rose upon the assembled wedding guests, the minister was at hand and the expectant tady, who was to take upon herself the vows "till death do us part," awaited in her houdor the coming of her Romeo. The minutes fied and still he came not, and the wedding guests possessed themselves of that uneasiness which is the forerunner of disappointment, while the love of the fair lady turned to anger. At last the one who was to have east her low with a man of unfaithful promises, appeared upon the scene, and with a sad, pale face, in which the lineaments of determination were plainly marked, announced to the guests that there would be no wedding. The minister departed, whether with or without his fee it matters not, and many guests wended their way homeward discussing inexorable fate with fervor; some, however, stayed to sorrow with the wouldthe will bring ha.
York with him on his return. In short, Mr.
Vanderbilt proposes to set a new fashion is music and introductions in homeward discussing inexorable fate with fervor; some, however, stayed to sorrow with the would-be bride, and were rewarded by seeing the man of her choice coming to the house at a gallop, three hours behind time.

No excuses, no sighs, no persuasions, no looks of love could change the decision of the outraged feelings of Miss Sauls, and Mr. Rhosdes took his departure, believing that procrastination was not good for one's soul, and feeling that his hope of happiness had been nipped in the bud. The intended bridegroom had been told by the minister, whom he met at the depot, and who was to unite the two hearts that they might beat as one, that the wedding was off, but believing his powers of persuasion to be, beyond the average, he waited upon his Dulcines with the result as above stated. "The course of true love never did run smooth."

The Revival of the Minuet.

[From the Chicago Tribune.]
"There is no doubt," said a charming society matron who had recently returned from Paris, "that something has got to be done if dancing is to hold its popularity. I became quite interested in the subject while in Paris. The matter there is excity a great deal of interest, and there is serious talk of reviving the old minuet. How much more attractive a bail-room would be with the minuet, attractive a bail-room would be with the minuet, the pavonne and the gavotte, instead of the helter-skeiter waits and galop. A few years ago the Princess de Sagan introduced the bourrée at one of her bails. This is a village dance, and the sight of eight pretty women and as many handsome men clattering about in sabots, dressed in village costume, must have been rather a novel one. I wouldn's advocate such an innovation as that, but I would like to see the minuet revived. You remember the story of Marguerite de Bourgopne, who was forgiven for her horrible crimes because ahe danced the minuet better than any one in the world. No one would do as much as that for a pretty waitzer, even if she was capable of etheresizing the waitz. The minuet is a charming combination of graceful stateliness and coquettishness."

[From the Chicago Herald.]
The fad of the season is bonbon spoons. A bonon spoon affects the antique. It has a large round The Caledonian Club, which numbers several pipers in its membership, will take no steps to stop the new-comer from landing, and the Carl Sahm Society is indifferent to his coming, believing that the pipers can never supplant musicians in New York.

Even Mr. John S. Kennedy, whose perseverance in the attempt to enforce the law in the case of Rev. E. Walpole Warren, the imported pastor of the Church of the Holy Trinity, says he has demonstrated to an enlightened country how senseless is this law, and he will place no barriers in the way of Mr. Vanderbilt's piper or of the new pastor of Plymouth Church.

Collector Magone will act in accordance with the facts reported to him by the Emigration Commissioners, and if they say Sandy has come over by contract, back he will go, unless he can be shown to be one of the excepted. bowl and a large, expanded and quaintly fashioned top, with a ring in the handle, after the style of the days when the mistress of the house wore her spoon hanging at her girdle to taste the soup for the family meal while it was cooking. Many of them are exact reproductions of old Engitsh spoons, wrought in antique silver, and with the wealth of our ous detail work expended on them the bonbon spoons cost a modern lady of the brownstone front anywhere from $10 to $50 or $100.

[Prom the Pitteburg Poet.]
In the Philippine Islands, when a man wishes to marry, the parents of the girl send her out in the woods before sunrise and let him hunt her. If he woods before subtime and re-doesn't find her the marriage is off. They reverse the order down in many of the cotton-spinning towns of New England. The men are so scarce there that the girls spend years in hunting them, and are still on the hunt.

New Things in Silver Decoration. [From an Exchange.]
There are a good many new things in allver this

Superintendent Jackson of Castle Garden shows that he is tired of the attempts to enforce the law, and refers the reporter to Interpreters P. Groth and Antonio Cafiero, who examine the emigrants and report to the Commissioners. Mr. Groth is of opinion that the piper is excepted as an artist, whether he plays ill or well, and also suggests that Mr. Vanderbilt would not permit his companion on the voyage across the ocean to fare more poorly than himself, and that Sandy will come as a second cabin passenger at the least, which would exempt him from examination as an emigrant and from the petty annoyances to which less fortunate passengers are subjected.

United States District-Attorney Walker conducts his office with judicial fairness, and Mr. Vanderbilt is considered to be only an equal with the Kentucky lawyer who contracted with a Scotch farmer to come on and run his farm. If the case of the piper is parallel to that of the imported farmer, and he is sent back to the land of lakes and mountains, he will in all probability call the importer to account under the penal section of the law. pearls for silver 'decoration. Many of these are Western river pearls, but others are extremely valuable. They are taken without polishing and valuable. They are taken without polishing and chosen according to the shape of the article they are to adorn, longish, pear-shaped pearls a third of as inch in length, for a slender, upright vase; shorter and round once for different articles. The pearls are set plannly in the metal, held by rims of the sliver, and make a showy decoration for people whose tastes are not of too severe an order. They are employed on bonbon spoons, on tea services and on sliver brushes and tollet articles. Another of the newer methods of sliver decoration is the choisenned, enamelling to colors in which some of

SCALY, ITCHY SKIN

And all Scaly and Itching Skin and Scalp Diseases cured by Cuticura.

Psoriasia, Ecsema, Totter, Ringworm, Lichen, Pruritus, Scall Head, Milk Crust, Dandruff, Barbers', Bakers', Grocers' and Washeswaman's Itch, and every species of tiching, Burning, Scaly, Pimply Humors of the Skin and Scalp, with Loss of Hair, are instantly releved and speedily cured by GUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, and CUTICURA ROAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, internally, when physicians and all other remedites rail.

PSORIASIS, OR SCALY SKIN.

I, John J. Case, D.D.S., having practised dentistry in this country for thirty-five years, and being well known to thousands bereabouts, with a view to help any who are affiliated as I have been for the past twelve years, testify that the CUTTCUAR BENEDIES cared me of Peorlasis, or Sealy Skin, in eight days, after the doctors with whom I had consulted gave me no help or encouragement.

JOHN J. CASE, D.D.S.

DISTRESSING ERUPTION. Your CUTICURA REMEDIES performed a wonderful en at summer on one of our customers, an old gentleman or wenty years of age, whe suffered with a fearfully dis-wising gruption on his head and face, and who had tried I remedies and doctors to no purpose. TEXARRAM, ARK.

DUSTPANFUL OF SCALES.

H. E. Carpenter, Henderson, N. Y., oured of Paoria its or Leproxy, of twenty years standing, by CUTICUE. REMEDIES. The most wonderful cure on record. A dustpanful of scales fell from him daily. Physicians and his friends thought he must die.

ECZEMA RADICALLY CURED.

For the radical cure of an obstinate case of Resema of mg standing, I give entire credit to the CUTICURA ong standing, i give and RRMRDIRS.

K. B. RICHARDSON, New Haven, Conn. Bold everywhere. Price, CUTICURA, 50c.; SOAF, 25c.; RESOLVENT, $1. Prepared by the FOTTER DRUG AND CHYMICAL OC. Boston, Mass. EF Send for "How to Cure Skin Diseases," 64 pages, 50 Illustrations, and 100 testimonials.

PIM PLES, black-heads, chapped and oily skin pre ented by CETICURA MEDICATED SOAP.

OLD FOLKS' PAINS.

Full of comfort for all Pains, Inflammation and Weskness of the Aged is the Cuticura Anti-Pain Plaster, the first and only pain-killing, Strengthening Plaster, New, instantaneous and infallible. and coffee spoons are designed. Some of the duller reds, two or three deep blues, brown and cream are the colors most frequently chosen, and the patterns are geometrical as a rule, though some beautiful flower sprays have been done.

A Servant's Good Manners and Good Clother Make Her Mistress Miserable.

(From the Chicago Mail.)
A north side lady who was in search of an extra domestic—one above the average—found what she wanted. "I had been told," she said to me, "that the woman was of more than ordinary intelligence, a cook who might be acceptable in the leadgence, a cook who might be acceptable in the leading cafe of the country, and, on the whole, one who was worth the munificent price which she asked—56 a week. I have had so many trisis that I concluded to break my husband by engaging and paying this woman, for, after all, it is his fault that we have had so much trouble with the servants. The woman came, and after her there arrived three trunks of more than ordinary size. I said nothing. The woman soon showed that she was all that she had claimed to be. Scrupulously neat, attentive, even lady-like in her demeanor, and the best cook I ever knew. Last Sunday I had occasion to go into her room, and she showed me a wardrobe which will challenge comparison with that of sny society lady of my sequaintance. Her dresses are of the latest shades and patterns, and made to fit to the heart's content of the most fastidious woman. Her other articles of apparel are in keeping, and she has six hats and three bonnets. I have been miserable ever since this exhibit. The woman is respectful, polite, industrious—in fact a perfect servant. And yet she is a lady in her manner, and well dressed. Her wardrobe is all I have told you. I don't know what to do about it. I have no reason for discharging her—in fact, I don't want to; but I feel miserable to think that my servant is a kny, and that she has a better wardrobe than I have or any of my friends have. I look at her with a feeling of awe and am miserable." The lady who tells me this story is one of the swell circle on the north side, and her husband is a merchant on Michigan avenue. She is living a life of anxiety that is actually telling on her nerves. ng cafe of the country, and, on the whole, one

Prepared for the Worst. Mrs. Grundy-How awfully that Tintall girl is made up! starvation.

Mrs. Grundy—I don't see why.

Mrs. Sneerweil—She aiways carries enough flour to make a plate of rice cakes.

Caught. (From Harper's Baser.)
He-What will you have, dear, candy or icecream ?

Catarrh in the Head
Originates in scrofulous taint in the blood. Hence the "For 25 years I have been troubled with eaters proper method by which to cure catarrh is to purify the blood. Its many disagreeable symptoms, and the dan-ger of developing into bronchitis or that terribly fatal disease, consumption, are entirely removed by Hood's Sarsaparilla, which cures estarth by purifying the blood; "I have used Hood's Sarasparilla for catarrh with very satisfactory results. I received more permanent benefit from it than from any other remedy." M. E. READ, Wausson, Ohio.

head, indigestion and general debility. I never had faith in such medicines, but concluded to try a bottle of faith in such medicines, but concluded to try a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla. It did me so much good that I continued to use it till I have taken five bottles. My health has greatly improved, and I feel like a different woman." Mrs. J. B. Adams, 8 Richmond st., Newark, N. J. "Hood's Sarsaparilla cured meel of cartarrh, soreness of the bronchial tubes and terrible headache." R. GIDBONS, Hamilton, Ohio, "Hood's Sarsaparilla has helped me more for catarrh and impure blood than anything else I ever used." A. BALL, Syracuse, N. Y.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Bold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass. 100 DOSEN ONE DOLLAR BALL, Syracuse, N. Y. BALL, Syracuse, N. Y. Bold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass. 100 DOSEN ONE DOLLAR

"NOT YOUR HOSE," SHE SAID.

home-comings of his; while those about her were enjoying themselves in every way.

That spirit of honor which is so strong in some women's breasts prevented her from accepting escort or special visits from other men. She did not regret this, but she knew it all the same. What she did not know was that he led a very different life indeed. Truly, she was best of all to him, as yet, and he thought of her very tenderly, as he paced the deck on moonlight nights; but at this port and that port he had lady friends and pleasant flirtations. He meant, when he married, to marry Rose; but he was not ready to marry yet.

She had kept her promise. She had waited for him. Her youth had gone by without youth's pleasures. The girl of twenty was a woman of thirty now, and she was "wait-woman of thirty now, and she was "waiting "still.

He was upon a three years' cruise: not half-way through it. She had a letter, and a very tender one, from him at every opportunity. He thought himself very praiseworthy. As for poor Rose, it had become a settled thing in his mind that she would await his pleasure. I do not think he gave her much credit for that. Having assured himself of a woman's love, a man seldom attributes it to anything but his own high deserts, and accepts it as a tribute to his great merit. A beautiful woman, a lady in the highest sense, he knew her to be: any other, he believed, would not be worthy of him.

So he "waited" in his fashion abroad; and she "waited" in her fashion at home. And meanwhile there reached him at sea one day a great, black-sealed packet, that informed him that his maternal grandfather was dead

a great, black-sealed packet, that informed him that his maternal grandfather was dead at last—he had lived to be a hundred years old—and that Harry Hope was a rich man at old—and that Harry Hope was a rich man at last.

That night be paced the deck and thought of the future. He was rich now. There was no longer any excuse for delaying his marriage. Indeed, he had no wish for any. He was resolved to settle down at once on land, and retiring from the service, become a good citizen, with Rose for the lady of his house. "I have at last a home worthy of you to offer," he wrote; and he meant it. He loved and honored his betrothed as much as it was in his nature to love and honor any woman.

woman.

Rose read the words with a happy heart: and she kissed the letter tenderly. The rest of the time she waited out patiently, for he would never sail away from her again.

Just upon the eve of his expected return, Rose received this letter from Harry's

And Rose, nothing loth, accepted the invi-tation. If her good angels could have kept her at home, this story would have ended

A WHOLE DAY'S READING FOR THREE CENTS. Photographing the Ocean's Bottom. (From the Nashville American.)
"You spoke of the advancement in science ac-

MAGAZINE AND NEWSPAPER COMBINED.

A FEW OF THE GOOD THINGS

SUNDAY WORLD.

30 PAGES. THREE CENTS. 210 COLUMNS.

A Woman Land Leaguer's Experience in Tullamore Jail.

Mr. Barnum on Church and Circus.

Queer American Diplomats.

The Oldest Scout in the West.

Sunset Cox on Political Life.

Bill Nye as a Scientist.

A Visit to Rosa Bonheur.

The Cigarette Girls of New York.

Recipes for a Thanksgiving Dinner.

Night-Hawk Cabmen of the Metropolis.

omplished by amateurs, Mr. Schleier. In what Well, take the sea, for instance. About all of the photographs taken in depths of the sea are by experimenting amateurs, and through them most marvelous hidden mysteries have been revealed."

"How do they accomplish this, and how do they know what is using photographed?" asked the reknow what is being photographed?" asked the reporter.

'Until the plate is seen they have not the slightest idea of what has been photographed. The operation, however, is simple. A box, hermetically sealed, with glass front, is sunk and to it is connected an electric light. At a certain depth light fails to penetrate the water and all is darkness. Sinking this device to a snort distance of the bed the electric current is turned on, which illuminates everything within a certain radius, and at the ame instant calls into sotion the mechanism of the submerged camera. Often, to be sure, almost nothing appears upon the plate, but sometimes the instrument is lowered among most interesting formations of nature, and pictures are produced of incalculable value to science. These experiments are constantly being made, and are such that those connected with the art as myself cannot possibly prosecute.

She Wanted a Dam-Bred Pattern.

The Scotch name for the game of draughts is dam and the board upon which it is played is called a dam-brod. A Scotch lady of the old school being in London wished to purchase a table-cloth of a checked pattern like the squares on a draught-board. She entered the shop and astonished the shopman by asking for table linen of a dam-brod pattern. He showed her some in very wide stripes, assuring her it was the very broadest pattern made. That would not do. She repeated she wanted a dam-brod pattern and that was not dam-brod at all. She left the shop, leaving the man astonished at her emphsile wording of her order, and she was equally surprised and indignant that he did not have in his store such a very common pattern of table linen. a dam-brod. A Scotch lady of the old school being with her alphabet. wow by heart. Just ask me any letter and I think I can say it as it is here.

A Slight Mistako. [From Judgs.] Ethel has been spending her accustomed hour

Mamma—Well, let me see; now what does S stand for, dear?

Ethel (alowly and with painful hesitanoy)—S is for sheep that makes wool for our clothes. And when—when killed—and when killed becames pork, as every one knows:

Natural Sequence. [From the Louisville Capsier-Journal.]
Feminine pocket-books having become larger, masculine pocket-books must necessarily become smaller. Indeed, there are some alleged heads of families who have ceased to carry a pocket-book

Already Secured.

[ From the Phill Trust Company Agent-Thinking that you might want to secure your personal property, I desire to

A Shrewd Schome

[From the Mucon Telegraph.]
The cunningest of all California advertising

AMUSEMENTS.

METROPOLITAN OPERA-HOUSE.

Messers above the following the converted of the following and the respectfully to announce the bay, Schoeffel & Gran bag respectfully to announce the state of the following artists: Mme. Hellens secons panied by the following artists: Mme. Hellens HASTRETER. Prima Donna Contraito: THEODORE HASTRETER. Prima Donna Contraito: THEODORE BJORKSTEN. Tenor: Hig. DE ANNA, Barttone: Sign. CARBONNE, Begic Mme. RACOON, Harpies, and Misse NETTIE CARPENTER, Violin Virtuoso. GRAND ORCHESTRA of seventy, 5ve musiciana, under the direction of ADOLPH NEUENDORFY. Conductors—Adolph Neuendorf and Sig. Ferrari. Scale of Prises—42.5, 81.50, $1 and 50e. Beats now on sale at bez-office, Metropolitan Opera-House. Weber Grand Fiano used.

14 TH STREET THEATRE-CORNER 6TH AVK.

LAST WERK OF
GEO. N. KNIGHT.

In Bronson Howard's and David Belasco's new play,
MONDAY, Nov. 31—DEMMAN THOMPSON.

THE OLD HOMESTRAD. AMUSEMENTS.

AMUSEMENTS. 5 TH AVE. THEATRE.

Proprietor and Manager. Mr. JOHN STETSON
LAST PERFORMANCE to pight at 8 chick. MRS. POTTER in first presentation in America of LOVAL LOVE

SUPPORTED BY MR. KVRLE BELLEW
By courtesy of Mr. Hony E. Abbay of Wallschap
AND MR. JONEPH HAWORTH.
MONDAY, NOV ZI
Mec Auli, UP's RA COMPANY,
Presenting the Hindoo Comic Opera,
THE BEGUM*

HARRIGAN'S PARK THEATRE,

EDWARD HARRIGAN
IN CORDELIA'S ABFIRATIONS.
DAVE BYSHAM and his popular orchestrations.
WEDN ESDAY MATINE SATURDAY.
PETE, Nov. 22.

UNION SQUARE THEATRE, J. M. HILL, Manager. Robson and Crane THE HENRIETTA

DOCKSTADER'S. BLACK FAUST.

plendid Scenery, Costumes, Singing and Electron THE GREAT FIRST PART, CLRYFLAND'S THEP-Revived by Request, EVENINGS, 8.30. SATURDAY MATINEE, 2.30.

H. R. JACOBS'S 3D AVE. THEATRE,
PRICES:
10c.
Reserved Seats,
20c., 30c. and
H.R. JACOBS'S OWN COMPARY 20c., 30c. and THE WAGES OF SIN.

50c.
Nov. 21—Benj. Maginley in INSHAVOGUE.

Nov. 21—Benj. Maginley in INSHAVOGUE.

STAR THEATRE.
MISS ELLEN TERRY.
Tonight at 8 o'clock

LOUIS XI.

Week Beginning 21st November,
Every Evening (except Saturday) and Saturday Matthews.

Baturday Night, Nov. 26, THE BELLS and JINGLE.

CASINO, BROADWAY AND SYTH ST.
Evenings at 8. Matines Saturday at 2.
The sparkling Comic Opera
THE MARQUIS
Received with roars of laughter.

MADISON BOUARE THEATRE.

MADISON BOUARE THEATRE.

Begins at 5.50. BATUPGs Malines at 2. Manager

THE MARTYR.

WITH A BTRONG CAST.

WALLACK'S.
Evenings at 8.15, Matines Saturday 2.15.
ROBERTSON'S Characters by Mosers. John Gilbert.
COMEDY.
Pigott, Mrs. Louise Eldridge. Miss
SCHOOL. Netts Guidon and Mrs. Abby. TONY PASTOR'S THEATRE. Howard Atheneum Specialty Co.

EDEN MUSEE New Groups, New Pictures, New Attraction Concerts Daily. Admission to all, 500 A CADEMY OF MUSIC. LAST WEEKS. EVENINGS AT S. MATINER SATURDAY AT The Phenomenally Successful Melodrama, A DARK SECRET. RESERVED SRATS, 50c., 75c. and 81.

PLIOU OPERA-HOUSE—BURLESQUE.
FRICE'S Rice & Dirpy's Sumptions Production.
RUNLESQUE
COMPANY.
With its gorgeons attractions.
COMPANY.
Evro-ant (charp). Mat's Word & Sain att. GRAND OPERA-HOUSE.

Reserved heats, Orchestra Circle and Balcony, 50s.

TREDERICK WARDE.

This Afternoon, GASTON CADOL.

RICHARD III. Next Week—A PARLOR MATCH.

This Anstroom, GASTON OADOLT TO BE AND THE ANSTROMATION OADOLT TO BE RICHARD HILL Nest West-A PARLOR MATCH.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE, SUNDAY, NOV. 20
PROF. CROMWELL'S FAMOUS LECTURE, "AMERICA, OUR HOME."
'Admission, 25c. Reserved Seats, 25c. extra.

YCEUM THEATRR.

MATINEE THANGIVING THE WIFE.

THANNGIVING THE WIFE.

DAY.

POOLE'S THEATRE-STH ST. AND 4TH AVR. 10c., 20c., 30c. Matiness Mon., Wed., Thin, 1st., DMINICK MURRAY IN RIGHT'S RIGHT, with Marvelloux Mechanical and Semile Fileds. Next West-THE TUCKET-OF-LEAVE MAN.

land. "You never mean anything by what you say."

"Then you wouldn't believe me if I were to say I adored you!" said Harry.
"No. You're an engaged man. You adore some one else, or ought to."

"Oh, yes, I ought to." said Harry; "but we don't always do what we ought."

She slapped him. He caught her hand.
"Divine little hand!" he said; "perfection of a hand! I"—" Gracious me!" cried Mrs. Ashland, in a frightened whisper.

"Gracious me!" cried Mrs. Ashland, in a frightened whisper.

His eyes followed the direction hers had taken. Rose had parted the cartains, and stepped forth. Mrs. Ashland hurried out.

"My darling Rose!" cried Harry.

"My darling Rose!" cried Harry.

"Not your Rose," she said. "I do not balong to you. After all these years, you have let me hear enough to set me free."

"You ought not to judge so harshly. It was the broadest firtation. Any other women would know that," cried Harry.

"It was very broad indeed, and we do not always do what we ought," said Rose, mildly. "You are quite at liberty to adore Mrs. Ashland."

So she left him. and so the long engagement was broken off. Nothing could soften Rose, whose constancy had endured the severe trial of frequent absence and of long delay for ten good years. As cruel as though there had been no love in her, stern as one who hated could have been, she allowed no prayers for pardon, no interview of any kind, and she sent him back his letters and his ring.

"Destroy mine," she wrote, "Inever wish the old lady tucked her friend away behind the folds of lace and damask and hurried out of the room.

Rose stood concealed behind the window curtains, trembling with happy anticipation. She heard a step without, and the door opened. A figure entered. It was not Harry. It was a lady—Mrs. Ashland. She flung herself into an armchair and took an attinde, Ah, if only Rose had stepped out then; but she did not. Another step sounded in the hall. It was Harry's this time. He entered briskly and walked straight up to Mrs. Ashland and kissed her.

"He takes her for me," said Rose to herself. His mother has told him that I am here, and in the excitement he "——

"You naughty man!" said Mrs. Ashland. "Why, you kissed me when you parted?" said Harry. "Don't you suppose I've thought of it ever since? How beautifully you are looking!"

"You've said that to twenty people to-day, I'm sure. It comes so pat."

"I never say it to any one but you," said Harry: "how can I?"

"Oh, I know you men!" said Mrs. Ashland. "Why, wou kind the total that to the constancy had endured the severe trial of frequent absence and of long delay for ten good years. As cruel as though there had been no love in her, stern as one who hated could have been, she allowed no prayers for pardon, no interview of any kind, and she sent him back his letters and his ring.

"Destroy mine," she wrote. "I never wish to see the foolish things again."

Harry Hope did not offer himself to Mrs. Ashland. He knew her too well, and loved her not one whit. He devoted himself to his see the foolish things again."

Harry Hope did not offer himself to Mrs. Ashland. "I never say it to any one but you," said Harry: "how can I?"

"Oh, I know you men!" said Mrs. Ashland."

"Under the foolish things again."

"He takes her for me," said Rose to herself. He had been no love in her, stern as one who hated could have been, she allowed no prayers for pardon, no interview of any kind, and she sent him back his letters and his ring.

"Destroy mine," she wrote. "I never wish to see the fool

THE LONG ENGAGEMENT.

THE LONG ENGAGEMENT.

The Long washed, research flowlyn, N.Y.*

and by that time all their little world knew that Kose Lealis was engaged to Midshipman the Kose Lealis was engaged to Midshipman the Midsher in the nineties, who had the part of the menting fortune and the You won't let as not one other fellow or any town of while I am upon the sea? You won't let a great deal for a girl to promise, but a local through the research of the put his sara houth work the men are to the women they have yousely their worse, the world have been engaged to one all the lower had been the form that the put his sara houth work of the mea, and the was the put his sara had the was engaged to the women they are the put his sara had the was engaged to the dearest the put his sara had the was engaged to the dearest the put his sara had the was engaged to the dearest the put his sara had the was engaged to the dearest the put his sara had the words lepity of letters, who had here the had made his fortune about them. And in the years that the was engaged to the dearest the put his sara had the words lepity of letters, who had the words lepity of letters, who had here were about them. And it in the years that the was engaged to the dearest the put his sara had the words lepity of letters, who had sawred about them. And it in the years that the was engaged to the dearest the put his sara had the words lepity of letters, who had the words lepity of letters, who had sawred about them. And it in the years that the was ensured the put had been the put had been the had made his fortune about the was ensured the put had been the his was on the related the put had been the his well as the letter were written and the words lepity of letters, who had sawred himself her lover; and now the world can be will have the letters were written and the words lepity the letters were written and the words lend that he loved here will have been the world of t jilted a French count.

never had an offer before.
acted like a fool,
crasp about Charley.
dreadfully extravagant.
meaner than the meanest.
done all the love-making,
over thirty.

tions that brighten a girl's life, and had led a dull, quiet existence, save in those brief home-comings of his; while those about her mother:

Come and pay me a visit, my dear. It will be such a delightful surprise to Harry to find you differently. If they had only kept her under her own roof for twenty-four hours, even by some serious accident or illness, she might have blessed them. As it was, they made it rain, and she defied them and called a cab; then they deserted her.

When Rose arrived at the house Harry had already come. He was upstairs at his toilet. And there were other visitors in the house, among them a Mrs. Ashland, a young widow, and one of the most desperate flirts in Christendom. She had kept up a constant correspondence with Harry and had always managed to have a fine flirtation with him when she came home, though of this Rose was quite ignorant. Rose's mother had some inkling of the matter, though.

"That Mrs. Ashland is here," she said. "She invites herself very often, but I don't faney her. It will be such a bore to Harry. We haven't told him you were coming. Let me hide you behind the parlor curtains and I'll send him in for something."

So, still in her walking costume and hat, the old lady tucked her friend away behind the folds of lace and damask and hurried out of the room.

Rose stood concealed behind the window